3.58.010 Findings.

The City Council of the City of Richmond, California, hereby finds that:

(a) The population of the City of Richmond, California, is composed of people of various racial, religious and ethnic groups.

(b) In November of 2009, the City Council of the City of Richmond declared the City of Richmond to be a Human Rights City, adopting the Universal Declaration of Human Rights as guiding principles.

(c) Discrimination based on the actual or perceived grounds of race, religion, color, sex, ancestry, marital status, familial status, economic status, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, weight, height, place of birth or disability poses a substantial threat to the health, safety and general welfare of the City’s residents.

(d) There is a recognizable nexus between the spawning of discrimination, distrust, poverty and crime. These factors, along with a lack of education, contribute to human rights violations and the breakdown of human relations.

(e) The products of discrimination accumulate continuously, resulting in ever-widening social, economic, and educational gaps within the community. Consequently, the mere prohibition of present and future discrimination, while essential, will not greatly reduce the violations, inequalities and disadvantages which a history of discrimination has produced.

(f) Affirmative remedial action must be initiated, encouraged and coordinated.

(g) Experiences of other urban centers throughout the nation have proved the need for, and effectiveness of, commissions empowered to study community relations problems, to work with interested parties to develop programs to ameliorate tensions and reduce cultural, social and economic disadvantages and to encourage and coordinate implementation of such programs consistent with the needs and rights of all members of the community.

Section 3.58.020 Purpose.

a) The City of Richmond values the dignity and worth of all human beings and is committed to promoting human rights, justice, equity and an inclusive and peaceful environment by respecting cultural and individual diversity and fostering mutual understanding among all people regardless of race, religion, color, sex, ancestry, marital status, familial status, economic status, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, weight, height, place of birth or disability.

(b) It is the intent of the City of Richmond that all people have an equal opportunity to participate fully in the life of the City and that discriminatory barriers to equal participation be removed.

(c) The City has a compelling interest in human rights education, in eradicating and preventing discrimination, and in ensuring equal opportunity.

(d) The following sections of this Chapter represent the least restrictive means of achieving the City’s objectives.

Section 3.58.030 Definitions.

For the purposes of this Chapter, the following words and phrases shall have the meanings respectively ascribed to them in this section unless the context specifically indicates otherwise:
